

Problem Statement

A critical need for Comprehensive Career Guidance and Counselling

In today's rapidly evolving and increasingly competitive job market, individuals especially students in tertiary institutions face a multitude of challenges in making informed career decisions. Therefore there is a great need for career guidance and student counseling systems, the lack of adequate career guidance and counseling services can lead to significant consequences, including:

1. Misalignment of Skills and Interests: Individuals may pursue careers that do not align with their skills, interests, or values, leading to dissatisfaction, disengagement, and potential job-burnout.
2. Underexploitation of Potential: Individuals may fail to recognize their true potential and capabilities, limiting their career growth and professional fulfillment.
3. Uninformed Career Choices: Lack of exposure to diverse career paths and accurate labor market information can lead to uninformed decisions, resulting in frequent job changes, underemployment, or unemployment.
4. Inadequate Preparation for the Workplace: Individuals may enter the workforce without the necessary skills, knowledge, and soft competencies required for success in their chosen field.
5. Barriers to Social Mobility: Limited access to career guidance services can cause social inequalities, hindering individuals from upward mobility and exploiting their full potential.

To address these challenges, there is a critical need for comprehensive career guidance and counseling services that are accessible, personalized, and tailored to the unique needs and circumstances of individuals. These services should provide:

1. Self-Assessment and Exploration: Guidance in identifying personal interests, skills, values, and personality traits to inform career choices.
2. Career Information and Research: Access to accurate and up-to-date information on various career paths, educational requirements, job market trends, and potential earnings. This can help u make an informed decision based on your career potential aligned with your potential earnings.
3. Career Planning and Goal Setting: Assistance in developing individualized career plans, setting realistic goals, and identifying actionable steps.
4. Decision-Making Support: Guidance in weighing options, making informed decisions, and navigating career transitions. There is also community support of other people that can help you with information if you need to be informed with something. Skill Development and Preparation: Support in developing essential skills, competencies, and workplace readiness through workshops, training, and mentorship opportunity

5. Skill Development and Preparation: Support in developing essential skills, competencies, and workplace readiness through workshops, training, and mentorship opportunities.

By providing comprehensive career guidance and counseling services, we can empower individuals to make informed career decisions, maximize their potential, and contribute meaningfully to society, and the nation as a whole.